Contributions for the 17th Colloquium of the Interdisciplinary Research Group of Mediation

Dear academics in the field of mediation research, according to our past experience with the scientific, interdisciplinary and international exchange within the community we are happy to announce our following international Colloquium in Autumn 2021. According to this one we invite every researcher who wants to discuss their research on mediation during the 17th International Colloquium amongst other mediation researchers of different disciplines to apply with a proposal. Outlines of research projects are welcome as well as the presentation and discussion of planned, current or completed theses (primary dissertation and habilitation or post doc, secondary)!

Please send us your proposals and clear research question to the community via email: info@forschungsgruppe-mediation.de The deadline for submittal is the 30th of June 2021. Please send us:

- A summary of your contribution (2-3 pages). For theses, please give an outline of your research methods as well.
- A research question you want to discuss in the colloquium or specific issues on which you would like to exchange or get advice.
- A short description of your personal reasons and goals for presenting in our colloquium.

The time frame for presentation in the colloquium is approximately 20 minutes. Afterwards there will be a moderated discussion of 30-45 minutes. You have the possibility to provide all participants with documents beforehand to introduce the subject of your research.

We are looking forward to your application!

See you soon, your leadership team of the Interdisciplinary Research Group on Mediation
